Performance notes from the arranger:

These arrangements were designed to be fun and easy to sing. You will find them useful for soloists, small choirs and ensembles, youth groups, rallies, sing-along sessions, and any other situation where good contemporary music is needed. Throughout the book, the melody has been placed in a moderate range for both guy's and girl's voices. This way, everybody in the group (even us monotones) can sing the tune. There are occasional harmony parts printed. These parts are optional and usually appear as small, cue-sized notes. Generally, these harmony parts are best suited for a few alto or tenor voices.

There are some other easy vocal performance suggestions included in the book. Also, there are simple chord changes and rhythm cues for those who want to try live instruments. Use them as needed. The "split-track" performance tape is both an excellent rehearsal reference and a terrific performance track as well. Use it as a guide, but adapt the arrangements to fit you and your group. Be flexible, use your imagination and, most important of all, have fun with it!
